

J'accuse par Emmanuel Zolar July 2008

I accuse art to be egocentric to turn around itself to exclude instead of include to criticize instead of proposing solutions to reflect the given instead of inventing the new to come after journalism instead of before to show the atrocities of this world instead of giving us hope to destroy rather than build We want art to embellish this world not through senseless decoration and refined analysis and research of the status quo We want art to use it's inherent power to make a real change to propose a solution to make a difference to allow transformation go where words fail bridging uniting in Joy, in Peace in Love for humanity.

If you have similar thoughts and feelings about the divorce between contemporary art and public, art and live, art and society, please let us know or sign the petition. If you are also viewing contemporary art as an avant-gardistic post-journalism join the effort by letting us know.
Instead of waiting for the change to happen, we make the change happen

If you are working/know about a positive change art work/project please inform us.

Rose Marie Gnausch and the Naturalmente Roma Team